Drawing upon more than 40 years of experience helping Catholic organizations from diverse regions with their communications, Dan Conway is dedicated to freelance writing, communications services and stewardship education.

Dan Conway is an internationally recognized author, publisher and freelance writer. During the past four decades, he has written hundreds of articles, editorials and reviews for Catholic publications. He has also served as a writer for Cardinals, Archbishops, Bishops and other Church Leaders on an extensive range of pastoral topics including healthcare, poverty, Christian anthropology and the spirituality of Christian stewardship.

Dan has been writing about Christian stewardship since 1988. His monthly column, The Good Steward, is sent by e-mail to diocesan and parish leaders throughout the United States and in many foreign countries. Catholic leaders know the name Dan Conway, and they associate him with the theology and practice of Christian stewardship taught by the U.S. bishops in their pastoral letter, Stewardship: A Disciple's Response, a publication that Dan helped write in the early 1990s.

Dan and his wife, Sharon, have five children and one granddaughter. They are members of Holy Trinity Parish in Louisville, Kentucky.
